Carlos Junqueira Principal, Espasso

"London is the best city for combining work with tourism. The first thing I like to do after going to Espasso is stop by Morty & Bob's, a café located in the same building as the gallery in London Fields—it has quite a unique menu. There's also E5 Bakehouse nearby, which I enjoy for breakfast, and El Ganso for tapas. If I'm feeling in the mood for Peruvian food, which I love, I go to Andina, in Shoreditch, and while I'm there I walk around Boxpark, a sort of outdoor pop-up mall. Broadway

Market is a must-go for me on Saturdays—I like that it's close to the canal, and I always discover new shops and restaurants whenever I'm walking around in that area. When I get a chance, I also try to stop by Borough Market and Brick Lane. I visit the National Gallery every time I'm in London, as well as the Newport Street Gallery, in Vauxhall. When I want to sightsee, I go to Dungeness outside of the city—anyone who loves architecture and design will thoroughly appreciate it."
