

THE LAY OF THE LAND: NYCxDESIGN'S DESIGN DISTRICTS

SOHO

The hub of NYC design, Soho Design District is the most concentrated grouping of individual furniture and lighting showrooms in the city. From Tom Dixon's new showroom on Greene to NYC flagships for Flos, Kartell, Fritz Hansen, Lee Broom, Foscarini and Cassina, there's a whole day of exploring to do o'er cobblestone streets in this picturesque design neighborhood.

📍 Getting there: NQRW or 6 to Canal St

📅 Design Night: May 19, 6-9pm

! Stop by: MM XVIII, a new collection of works by Philippe Malouin, Luca Nichetto, Sergio Rodrigues, & Faye Toogood at Matter Made (405 Broome St) A

TRIBECA

Ah, Tribeca. Difficult to get to, but so worth the journey. Where else can you get up close and personal with a Kaare Klint sofa from 1933 in near pristine condition? Wyeth's Tribeca outpost – that's where. We also would recommend stops at David Weeks Studio, Colony, Lambert & Fils at Montauk Sofa, Property, R&Company, Room, and last but not least, Espresso Brazilian... so hot right now.

📍 Getting there: Call Juno

📅 Design Night: May 17, 7-10pm

! Stop by: Balance/Unbalanced, a showcase of new work by American designers at Colony (324 Canal St, 2nd Fl) B
