Context Furniture Manufacturing

A smart little number that's part of Scott Klinker's Truss collection, the Library desk is birch plywood clad in plastic laminate, offered in white, red, moss green, and espresso brown. Measurements are 55 inches wide by 29 deep by 28 high—or 37 inches high with an optional shelf. 104 West Fourth Street, Suite 304, Royal Oak, MI 48067; 248-200-0724; contextfurniture.com. circle 334

Stark Carpet Corp.

Neisha Crosland's Hollywood Grape sizzles with Tinseltown glamour. The 21-inch-wide wall paper is offered in five colorways: worthy of any starlet: copper pearlized, marigold, aluminum, pale gold foil, and rich gold foil. 979 Third Avenue, New York, NY 10022; 212-752-9000; starkcarpet.com. circle 335

Arthur Casas Arquitetura e Design

If Ludwig Mies van der Rohe had been Brazilian, he might have designed this chair—which is actually by Interior Design Hall of Fame member Arthur Casas. Exhibiting the same easy styling as his residential and hospitality interiors, the frame is a naturally finished hardwood from a Forest Stewardship Council-protected forest. Straps of saddle leather form the back, while the cushion upholstery is silk so raw it seems right off the worm. Espasso, 38 North Moore Street, New York, NY 10013; 212-219-0017; espasso.com. circle 336

Brentano

Though delicate in name and appearance, Diaphanous Ribbons is made of sturdy Trevira CS. Horizontal stripes run the textile's full 118-inch width. The three fairy-tale colorways are Aurora, Snow White, and Cinderella. 1451 Paddock Drive, Northbrook, IL 60062; 800-338-7210; brentanofabrics.com. circle 337

Landscape Forms

Originally intended for the health-care and retirement markets, Wellspring also suits spa, educational, and hospitality venues, indoors and out. The teak bench's contoured seat has two heights, for wheelchair accessibility, and a length of either 24, 48, or 72 inches; a curved back with additional slats offers superior comfort and support. 431 Lawndale Avenue, Kalamazoo, MI 49048; 800-521-2546; landscapiforms.com. circle 338
